

MANY MINERS ARE ENTOMBED IN COAL MINE

Thirty-One Negroes Have Been Rescued, Many of Whom Are Badly Burned, According to Report From Clay

(By Associated Press) Clay, Ky., August 4.—Two hundred miners are entombed in No. 7 mine of the West Kentucky Coal Company by an explosion of gas. Three men have been recovered. Smoke is issuing from the mine. The explosion occurred in the southern part of the mine where mostly negroes were at work and the debris blocked the adjoining passage, where 40 white men were at work. Madisonville, Ky., August 4.—Reports received from Clay said that 31 negroes had been rescued from the mine of the West Kentucky Coal Company. Many of the men were badly burned.

LARGE STEAMER ASHORE OFF HALIFAX COAST

(By Associated Press) Halifax, N. S., August 4.—A large steamer ran ashore off here today during the dense fog. This is the second steamer to ground on the rocks near here within a week. The name of the steamer was withheld by the censor.

THEY ARE NOW IN FEDERAL SERVICE

Forty-Three Dropped From Dover, Exeter and Laconia Companies.

The Dover and Laconia companies of the N. H. Coast artillery were ordered in the federal service today. Exeter company will go in this afternoon. Of the battalion, a major, one lieutenant and forty privates were dropped for physical disability. The most of the men disqualified are said to have been members of the Laconia company.

BIG PARADE IN HONOR OF THE BELGIANS

(By Associated Press) Boston, August 4.—The Belgian mission obtained a few hours rest at their hotel today prior to afternoon parade of the military in their honor. More than 13,000 soldiers and sailors came from the navy yard, forts and various mobilization camps in this vicinity to take part. Unusual police precaution was taken to handle the big crowd which gathered for a two fold purpose to catch a glimpse of the distinguished visitors as well as to get a parting glance of the state military which made its final appearance before going to the training camp. This evening the guests will be tendered a banquet.

NOTED PREACHER PASSES AWAY AT NORRINGTON

(By Associated Press) Norrington, Conn., Aug. 4.—Rev. Dr. Carlos Martyn, pastor emeritus of the Norrington Presbyterian church, died today aged 76 years. Dr. Martyn began his career when he stepped before the Civil war for Abraham Lincoln. In the Civil war he was provost marshal of New York and served as a captain in the 71st volunteers.

FORTY YOUTHS DISAPPOINTED IN THE C. A. C.

Forty men disqualified physically in the mustering in of the C. A. C. today were heart-broken over their rejection. The Herald man met some of the Laconia boys and they have tried every way to get by. Bad teeth was the main cause of rejection. Major Hoyt's retirement is regretted by every man in the entire battalion.

DOES NOT TRUST PEACE PROPOSAL OF THE KAISER

(By Associated Press) London, Aug. 4.—David Lloyd George, addressing a large and representative audience at Queen's hall today reiterated the aims of the Allies against the Central Powers. At the beginning of his remarks Mr. George asked what would have happened if England had not entered the war. He said that all of Europe would have been at the mercy of a cruel military power. Russia would have been disintegrated and America's Monroe doctrine would not have amounted to anything. He did not trust the peace proposals of neither the Kaiser or Chancellor.

HAPPENINGS IN THE GREAT WAR

While there has been no renewal of the smashing offensive inaugurated on Tuesday in Flanders the incessant pressure on the German lines is beginning to be felt. The British are again established in St. Julien, which place they lost shortly after the initiative attack. Last night the French advanced their lines near Kortis Cabaret. On the south on the Arras front the French have renewed their grip on the old line, completing last night the capture of Mondy le Proux. The Russians are now fighting hard and a battle is raging near Kippolin.

GOVERNMENT WILL TAKE OVER ALL VESSELS

Now Being Built in American Ship Yards and Work Will Be Rushed to Completion by Extra Crews

(By Associated Press) Washington, Aug. 4.—The Emergency Shipping Board today requisitioned all vessels over 2500 tons being built in American ship yards. Double and triple crews of laborers will be put to work to rush the work to completion. There are building in the yards of the country about 700 ships totaling more than 1,500,000 in tonnage, most of it for foreign account. Hulls and contracts both will be taken over, the final disposition of the foreign craft to be left to negotiations between the United States and the Governments concerned. The completed American ships will be retained by the board for operation. Commandeering of tonnage building was one of the features of the program for shipbuilding announced by Maj. Gen. Goethals just before his resignation as manager of the fleet corporation was accepted by President Wilson. Chairman Dennison's blocking of this program was one of the things that led to Mr. Dennison's removal by the President. Gen. Goethals' plan for constructing two great Government-owned shipyards for building fabricated steel ships will be taken up by the board later. The board probably will make no move toward requisitioning American tonnage already on the seas for several days. Several legal hitches are to be straightened out before any ships are taken over.

ARMED CITIZENS FIGHT GOVERNMENT DRAFT PLAN

First Trouble and Armed Resistance Starts in Oklahoma Where Bridge Has Been Dynamited

(By Associated Press)
Oklahoma City, Ok., Aug. 3.—A group of 100 have armed themselves to resist the government officials in carrying out the provisions of the draft laws and other citizens have been armed and sworn in as special deputies to enforce the laws.

The first violence against the draft broke out today at Ada, Seminole county, and has spread rapidly to other sections of the state. The Federal bridge at Prineville was dynamited and burned and traffic was halted for twelve hours by mob violence.

The mob, composed mostly by tenant farmers, many of them negroes, is marching towards Muskogee, threatening to storm hardware stores there for more arms. All members of the mob are heavily armed.

100 armed citizens are patrolling the streets of Allen and a similar armed posse of loyal citizens have been sworn in as special deputies at Henryetta. The desire of Governor Williams not to call the state guard into service to check the riots is causing fear among the citizens.

Ten Made Prisoners
Ada, Ok., Aug. 3.—Sheriff Bob Duncan of Seminole county, who was reported earlier in the day to have been captured by the mob returned tonight from Muskogee with ten prisoners taken by the posse. The posse consisted of twenty-five citizens and the prisoners were captured by the firing of a shot. Sheriff Duncan said that there were eighty men in the group from which he took his prisoners and the mob was dispersed. All officers who had been made prisoners by the mob have been released.

WOUNDED AVIATOR MAKES DARING RESCUE

(By Associated Press)

Sydney, Australia, August 4.—One of the most striking war incidents involving Australians is the deed by which Lieut. R. H. McNamara, of the Australian Flying Corps won the Victoria Cross in Egypt a few months ago. McNamara is 23 years old and a son of the head of the Victorian wheat commission. Before the war he was a public school teacher in Victoria. His home is in Caulfield. An Army surgeon named McDonald wrote in a recent graphic letter to his father regarding McNamara's exploit and its aftermath.

"On Monday last, Lieut. McNamara of the Australian Flying Corps flew out from the aerodrome and later on passed beyond Beersheva. Here he came upon the Turkish cavalry. They immediately opened fire. His wings were severed, his plane penetrated by bullets but he just flew around and dropped his bombs. They were shells timed to explode only on contact. McNamara dropped four and released a fifth from his bomb vest. It exploded prematurely under the aerodrome. A piece of shrapnel tore its way through his car and penetrated the body of the machine. It ended by entering his leg, making a huge, ugly wound.

"He immediately dropped two smoke bombs as a signal of distress. But at that minute he saw another airplane drop two smoke bombs and hover down through engine troubles.

"As McNamara said to me, 'I could not let the poor devil stay down there and not try to rescue him.' Well, he descended but as his airplane was built for only one, the two other men had to climb into the space between the planes. All this time the Turks were busy shooting at them. With his extra passengers McNamara tried to ascend. But the leg was terribly painful with the result that the machine swerved and tipped over as it was moving along the ground preliminary to rising. They were prisoners for a certainty unless they managed to make the other machine go.

"They ran over to the other machine and tested the engine. Wonderful to relate it went. So in they climbed and soared into the air, pursued by shrapnel from the Turks. On the way back McNamara nearly fainted several times through loss of blood and pain. But by putting his head outside into the rushing air he recovered. It would have been smash and death for both if he had fainted. They arrived back safely. That night McNamara was cheered to the echo. His deed is known all over this part of Egypt. It will be the V. C. and if not that, it will be something pretty good."

KERENSKY AND MINISTERS QUIT AND COME BACK

Russian Cabinet Resigns and Returns Without Terestchenko

Petrograd, Aug. 3.—Premier and War Minister Kerensky and all the other members of his cabinet except Vice-Premier Nekrasoff, resigned last night. Later, with the exception of M. Terestchenko, the foreign minister, they withdrew their resignations.

The action of Premier Kerensky and his fellow cabinet members came about as a result of accusations against M. Terestchenko, the minister of agriculture, and a complete breakdown of the negotiations to bring the constitutional democrats into the cabinet. M. Terestchenko was accused of having been connected with the German general staff.

A last attempt will be made to reconstruct the ministry under Premier Kerensky, with the chief new members being exclusively from the Socialist and Radical parties.

M. Terestchenko, who is a Socialist, had already resigned his seat as minister of agriculture. In a letter to Premier Kerensky, he said he was resigning to obtain freedom of action in order to defend his character against the calumnies that he had been connected with the German general staff.

The government accepted the resignation, at the same time expressing the conviction that M. Terestchenko would succeed in rehabilitating himself.

Vice-Premier Nekrasoff informed the Associated Press that some of the documents supposed to implicate M. Terestchenko had already been examined. He considers the charges against the minister of agriculture as "not" very grave, but the cabinet was obliged to accept the resignation provisionally.

M. Terestchenko has been one of the central figures in the present cabinet troubles in Russia. Negotiations for the reconstruction of the cabinet have been in progress for several weeks. One of the conditions raised by the Constitutional Democrats, whose presence in the cabinet was desired, was that M. Terestchenko should resign.

On July 28 a dispatch from Petrograd reported that Premier Kerensky had resolved to sacrifice neither M. Terestchenko nor Terestchenko, the foreign minister, who is also opposed by the Constitutional Democrats.

M. Terestchenko was appointed minister of agriculture last May and was retained in that post in the Kerensky ministry established on July 21. He is a member of the executive committee of the council of peasants' delegates and is an advocate of land nationalization.

length of coast the same principle of defensive fortification applied higher up on the North Sea and the island of Heligoland," said the Admiral. "The coastline is studded with heavy guns which in themselves constitute infinitesimal targets at a range of more than twenty thousands yards on which any bombardment could be carried out. Moreover, the enemy has not been slow to make fullest use of aircraft and smoke screens by way of protection. Ostend offers the best target, but it can only be attacked at rare intervals when a favorable combination of wind, weather and sea conditions can be obtained. Zeebrugge in the real sense of the word is not a livable base, but merely an exit from the island port of Bruges, with which it is connected by a wide deep-water canal. There is little to hit at Zeebrugge.

"Still I hope that the problem which the Belgium coast presents is not unsolvable."

NEWINGTON

Mr. Martin Hoyt and family who have been spending several weeks at his former home has now returned to his home in Salem, Mass.

The big boat building plant to be erected on the Newington shore near River Road is making things lively in that part of the town.

Dr. Herbert Pickering and son of Lynn were visitors in town on Sunday.

Miss Alice Pickering of Durham was in town recently calling on old friends.

The corn and beans begin to present a parched and wilted appearance owing to the great heat of the past few days and for the lack of rain.

Showers seem to be all about us and the lightning was sharp but no rain fell in this vicinity.

A few farmers have finished haying while others are busily engaged in the hayfields.

Miss Ida Nutter, matron of the Franklin hospital, is taking an extended vacation and is passing it with her sister, Mrs. Mary E. Coleman.

Word has been received of the death of Mr. George Howe at Togus, Me., on Wednesday. Mr. Howe has been a citizen of this town for many years until entering the soldiers home several weeks ago. He was pleasant, genial and respected by those who knew him. Since the death of his wife he has resided with his step-daughter. Much sympathy is extended to his near friends and connections.

Mr. Amos Moody of Lynn is passing his vacation with his sister, Mrs. Charles Coleman.

Mrs. Wardell of North Attleboro is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Howard Knox.

POTATO SALAD

Peel and slice four boiled potatoes while hot and pour over them three tablespoonsful of olive oil and one of vinegar. Sprinkle with celery seed and set aside to cool. Add thin slices of tart apples and rings of Spanish or Bermuda onions and a mayonnaise dressing. Garnish with hard boiled eggs and stuffed olives, and sprinkle with paprika.

Novelty Salad

Mix two cupfuls cold boiled rice with one cupful of chopped celery, one tablespoonful of grated onion, two green peppers chopped and one cupful of mayonnaise. Place on a bed of shredded lettuce and garnish with yellow tomatoes cut in halves the long way and with strings of green or red peppers.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, August 4, 1917.

The Coming Portsmouth Fair.

Good news is it that the Granges of this section are interesting themselves in the coming Portsmouth fair. The Grange is a farmers' organization and an agricultural fair is the farmers' event, although of interest and value to all classes of the community when there is the co-operation which makes a fair all that it should be.

And such co-operation is promised for the Portsmouth fair this fall. The result will be a great display of the products of the farm, garden and orchard at a time when these are unusually plentiful, owing to the special effort that has been put forth this year to increase the food supply of the country and the world. Nature has blessed the labors of the men, women, boys and girls who have given their attention to the soil, many of them for the first time in their lives, and there will be large stores to draw from to make up an exhibit which will probably excel anything of the kind ever seen before in this part of the State.

In many sections the agricultural fair as an institution has been on the decline in recent years and many agricultural societies that flourished for many years have been disbanded. This retrograding movement has not reached Portsmouth, which now has in prospect what will probably be the best and most elaborate fair in its history.

An agricultural fair is valuable to a community in many ways. Not only is it a means of spreading knowledge of matters pertaining to the farm, but it brings the people together for social intercourse and the exchange of views not only upon agricultural topics but all the topics of the day, even including politics. Whoever else may ignore the importance of the agricultural fair it is never overlooked by the politicians, who are invariably present shaking with both hands and ready to be heard in case of a call for a speech.

But the real value of the agricultural fair lies in its educational character. It is impossible for the farmers and their wives to mix and discuss their methods without disseminating information that is of value to all, and the social features of these events are also highly desirable and beneficial. And when merchants and manufacturers contribute to the exhibits, as they do in many cases on a liberal scale, the fair becomes an event worthy of the attention of all classes.

The Portsmouth fair this fall should be the best in the history of the society. Present conditions have given added importance to the subject of agriculture and the farmers of this part of the State should make a special effort to show what has been accomplished since the call went forth for redoubled energy in the cultivation of the soil. It is to be hoped that all classes will lend a hand and that the Portsmouth fair of 1917 may be what it is predicted it will be, one of the best of its kind in New England.

The inmates of the Soldiers' Home at Tilton must have felt as if they were back at the front again when lightning struck the buildings four times during a heavy shower the other day. Fortunately, no one was hurt and the damage was comparatively slight, considering the extent of the bombardment. The elements seem to have absorbed something of the war spirit and lightning has been very active in many parts of the eastern states of late, doing serious damage in many instances.

A few trains of hard coal have been run from the mines into New England, but the situation is still far short of being relieved. Government officials have led the people to believe that help is coming, and in case of failure there will be not only severe disappointment, but a scepticism on the part of the public which will be far from helpful at a time when all should be pulling together.

Internal troubles are not confined to Germany. All know the conditions in the "republic" of Russia, which is now under a dictator, and the cabinets of Chile and Peru have resigned. And even in this country there are ripples of disagreement which, magnified as they will be by the time the news gets across the water, must be very consoling in the realm of the kaiser.

American officers who have been making observations at the front are convinced that the Germans can easily hold out till 1919. While no one can be certain of the future, there is reason to believe that the end of the war is far from being in sight.

"One shall be taken and the other left" says the Bible. The boys who were recently conscripted will soon have a keener appreciation of this passage than ever before. The sorting process is soon to begin.

Thomas Mott Osborne is glad to come back to Portsmouth and we are glad to have him.

The Herald invites our Concord and Manchester friends to come to Portsmouth where it is cool. Come before May 1st next.

From the Exchange

Neutrality

(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)
The fifty Dutch ships in New York harbor, which cannot sail because the Dutch Government will not give the Americans necessary to obtaining export licenses, are in effect blockaded by Germany in an American port. This must be a very satisfying form of neutrality.

The Photographer of Ypres
(From the Pittsburgh Gazette Times)
Thick-skinned indeed must be the German who, after the war, can ignore severely the reminders of his country's crimes. His period of social probation will be longer than his government's term of international infamy; wherever he goes he will be made conscious of the misery and ruin his mad monarch's murderous elixir wreaked on the world. The photographer of Ypres is getting ready for the future and with his camera has been presenting souvenirs for the Germans to take home when they come visiting to France. With brave persistence the photographer remained in the town after the German onslaught and was there throughout the first battle of Ypres. As soon as he could go about his safety he began to make a "Before and After" series of pictures, drawing on his stock of negatives used in times of peace to show a street, building or monument as it was, and placing beside it a photograph of the same scene after the German Kultur bath. This would have been enough for an ordinary mind, but apparently the French camera man has ideas. When the second battle of Ypres began the British ordered him to leave for his own safety. He did, but came back afterward and began a new series of pictures to be called "Before and After."

The children and the children's children of this generation of Germans will help pay the penalties for the sins of their fathers, useless to argue against the injustice of this; the French, English and Belgians—and possibly now the Americans—will not be quick to forgive.

Too Valuable to Destroy
(From the Brooklyn Eagle)
The U-boat commanders may think twice before sinking the Vaterland, if they sink her, the reasoning on which it is done may be altogether convincing to her German proprietors. As she floats, the Vaterland is a possible asset. Put her on the bottom and Kultur must draw more heavily on the loyalty of its friends. There are limits to wrong-headedness.

"German Women in Army"
(From the Chicago Evening Post)
The Kaiser has said that a German woman's duty is contained in the words, "Kinder, Kirche, Kueche." Gud Kriek?

The chagrin of the German warriors at being captured by women can best be understood by those who are familiar with the Kaiser's three K's and know what they mean in Germany.

Cheap Politics
(From the New York Commercial)
Portland, Me., possesses two important assets, a fine harbor and the Atlantic terminus of the Grand Trunk railway. For half a century it has been regarded as the winter port of eastern Canada, and its citizens wish to develop this Canadian trade. The Canadian Pacific and the International Railway carry freight to St. John's, N. B., and to Halifax, N. S., but the Grand Trunk, the premier railway of British North America, is interested in Portland, its eastern terminus. Portland is asking Congress to spend some money on its splendid harbor. One of the things which Congress should always take into account in appropriating money for harbor improvements is the commercial necessity. Congress does not always do so, but that is beside the question. Those who have been trying to secure this appropriation for the improvement of Portland's harbor, naturally thought about the Canadian trade.

The most natural thing to do was to ask the British ambassador, who represents Canada as well as the rest of the Empire at Washington, what were the prospects of increasing Canadian business at Portland if the desired improvements were made by the United States Government. He responded in a business-like manner by writing that such improvements would be "of great service in Canadian vessels during the war." The value of better service at Portland to Canada in general and to the Grand Trunk Railway in particular is obvious. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice is the official representative of those interests and it is his duty to advance them just as we expect our diplomats to look after our interests in foreign countries. If, by giving assurances that Canadian shipping interests would make use of port improvements at Portland, the British Ambassador should help the people of Portland to secure an appropriation, he had a right to send such a letter. He was "attending to Canada's business in so doing and he was not interfering in American politics."

One senator from the mountain states characterizes the letter as "an intrusion" and "an impertinence." Another senator from the Middle West compares the letter to the one Sickles wrote to "Alf Landon" into writing by a sharp American politician who wished to contrive a "rookback" for the undoing of President Cleveland. Neither charge is warranted. The British Ambassador is doing his duty and it is disgraceful that he should be attacked in this way. He cannot see any politics in a project to improve one of the finest natural harbors in this country, or in the world. Do these earing senators claim that the United States has no interest in securing Canadian trade?

War-Time Railway Efficiency
(From the St. Paul Pioneer Press)
Under the stress of war-time conditions the railroads are learning many lessons in efficiency. Their officers would not have believed possible a few years ago; at the time, for instance, when Brandels, then special counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission, urged greater efficiency as a remedy for shrinking net earnings, and was scoffed at for his pains.

It is true the changes Brandels had in mind were not exactly those that have come to pass. The railroads, acting on their own initiative, have gone a step beyond his suggestions, and for purposes of traffic movement practically have merged all their systems into one, under the management of a commission of experts at Washington. The results have been little short of wonderful. According to Daniel Willard, chairman of the committee of transportation of the Council of National Defense, some of the things accomplished are:

The transfer of all troops on schedule, without interference with civil traffic.

The handling at the same time, with out congestion, of more than 3,000,000 more ton-miles a month than a year ago, an increase of 15 per cent.

The decrease, in spite of this increased business, of the general car shortage one-third since May 1.

The increase of the supply of cars by 770,000 through heavier loading, quicker repairs, quicker handling, by pooling shipments at lake and seaports, thus releasing cars immediately, and by utilizing box-cars that formerly went to the coast empty.

The removal from the service of all passenger trains not absolutely necessary.

But perhaps the most gratifying result from the point of view of the stockholders is one Mr. Willard does not mention. By cutting down passenger service and speeding up freight service so as to get the most out of equipment, it has been possible to hold mounting expenses in check, and in the case of many roads, to increase net earnings.

A temporary shaving of the Sherman anti-trust law has made possible this showing by the railroads. Whether public opinion would sanction a continuance of this policy after the war is a question; but it will be surprising if the railroads do not attempt, as far as possible, to retain their war-time efficiencies.

Minimum Wage Laws
(From the New York Evening Post)
Though about a dozen states have minimum wage laws, only four—Massachusetts, Oregon, Washington, and California—have made serious efforts to put into practice the principles of such legislation. Thus far, Massachusetts has fixed wages in each of a number of separate industries, as in brush factories, candy factories, the women's clothing industry, and so on. As for retail stores, there is as yet a limited application of the law, affecting only about ten per cent of the girls employed in the large Boston department stores. The issuance July 21 of an order in California fixing the minimum wage for all women in mercantile industry reminds us that on the Pacific Coast the tendency is to legislate more broadly. The California Industrial Welfare Commission places the minimum wage for an adult experienced woman at $10 a week, or $13.33 a month. A lower wage is provided for learners—$6 for girls under eighteen, and $8 for girls between eighteen and twenty, subject to an increase of $1 a year till $10 is reached. In Washington a similar minimum wage of $10 has been fixed in mercantile industries and general office occupations, while experienced women workers in factories and most other employments must have at least $8.50 to $9. In Oregon, wages are not so high—the minimum wage for adult women in retail stores in Portland is $9.25.

More Sentimentalists
(From the Hartford Courant)
The slush that some of the sister newspaper writers are giving the public about that hopeless child that was not saved by its doctor for a life of misery is disgusting. It is nothing but sentimentalism. If the mother is dying of heartbreak over the baby, it is because the child was a failure and not because the misshapen and impossible creature was allowed to stop breathing and cease to be a burden to her. The grief of the mother is probable, but its cause was not the death of the child, but its misfortune and in alleged sympathy for her, the dismal future of the child is forgotten. Would any one of the mourners be willing to assume responsibility for keeping alive a person whose life was sure to be physical agony and mental distress—if there was any mind?

BELGIANS ARE SUBJECTED TO INDIGNITIES

(By Associated Press)

Have, France, August 4.—The Belgian government has received information to the effect that deported Belgians working in the Thyssen Works at Mulheim on Rhine, declared that as the Germans had violated their promise to send them back home at the end of four months, they would prefer to die rather than to continue. The Germans imposed a fine of thirty marks each and imprisonment for 10 days upon the men.

One hundred and eighty Belgians in another German factory refusing to continue work after four months, were deprived of food and thirteen of them were imprisoned at Mynster.

The Hilsbecksche Werks, employing Belgian civilians in their mines, deprived the men of all nourishment for five days in order to force them to work. The directors of this concern justified their action, saying that the privation was not absolute, but was necessary in order to overcome the passive resistance of the workmen.

Belgian civilians working at the munition factory at Grosse Walle, near Antwerp, were obliged to transport hand grenades after having vainly protested against being put to such work.

The Belgian government has shown proofs that a great many deported Belgians, in spite of their unanimous desire to return to Belgium, were not allowed even to attend funerals of relatives; sons were refused the consolation of going home to bury their mothers. The deported appear to have entirely escaped the supervision of the delegates of neutral countries, the Germans putting forward the pretext that they are not prisoners of war. Whenever delegates have been exceptionally authorized to visit these civilians, it has always been in the presence of German authorities. The evidence gathered by the Belgian government in these cases is categorical and covers a period down to the end of March of this year.

HOLLAND HAS WAR MINISTER IN CIVIL LIFE

(By Associated Press)

The Hague, Netherlands, Aug. 3.—For the first time in its history the Netherlands has a civilian War Minister in Bernard C. de Jonge and many of its old military men are shaking their heads and prophesying little good of this startling innovation.

Major General N. Bosboom had been Minister of War for nearly four years since August 1913, his period of office thus covering the entire period of the war in Holland's mobilization. His administration, in the last critical three years, is generally acknowledged to have in many respects merited the appreciation of his countrymen.

It was General Bosboom who was responsible for the rapid mobilization at the outbreak of European hostilities, which, maybe, preserved Holland from the flood of war. Under his direction the number of trained men has been increased from between 300,000 and 400,000 to over 500,000.

The clouds of discontent had been gathering for some time. For nearly three years hundreds of thousands of Holland's citizens have been kept under arms in most galling circumstances; the army was not required to fight, and yet it could not be sent home. The influence of the protracted mobilization on the social and economic life of the nation has become more and more trying. Grievances and complaints multiplied.

Things came to a head on the question of calling up the 198 Leijonhulmslevy. The military authorities decided to call it up for training before the 1918 militia levy, that is to say, men of 29 years of age before men of 20; older men, many of them married and with more or less important business ties, before younger, more untrammelled members of the community. Parliament unmistakably expressed its opinion on the subject, but the War Office and its representative refused to bow to the Chamber's wishes, the sequel being a burst of parliamentary indignation and the minister's fall.

Jankester de Jonge is thoroughly conversant with his country's military affairs, having served in the War Office. In 1912 he acted as secretary to the State Commission which sat to consider the question of the defense of the Netherlands East Indies. He belongs to no political party, and outside a narrow circle is virtually an unknown quantity. He takes over a most of great responsibility, for Holland's position is still dangerous and may yet become critical, and there are glaring imperfections in her defenses still to be made good.

Tokio, August 3.—I am not because of fear of Japan or any other particular nation that the Dutch Government recently voted to increase its naval forces for the protection of Holland's possessions in the Orient," was the statement attributed to J. H. Hubrecht, newly arrived secretary of the Holland legation, in an interview published here.

"I can assure you," continued Mr. Tuesday.

ABOLITION CAUSED BY HIGH COST OF FOOD

(By Associated Press)

Paris, August 4.—High prices of food have since the first of the year, provoked increased abolutions. It appears from statistics of the municipal laboratory of Paris. Of 1776 samples analyzed in May, 236 were declared impure by the city chemists. This proportion of 25 per cent of frauds among products examined is the highest ever recorded. It was about 17 per cent in January.

Those figures cannot be taken as a comprehensive summary of the situation since among the samples analyzed were many that were presented by consumers merely as a precaution. Milk and wine are the most frequently subject to frauds, while the number of substitutes for different edibles multiplies constantly as does the audacity of the inventor of artificial foods.

Recent investigations have exposed most daring experiments by compounders of extracts to take the place of meats and new compounds to replace butter. Every case of fraud detected is rigorously prosecuted, but the inspection department, reduced by the mobilization of a considerable part of its force, finds difficulty in keeping pace with frauds.

NAVY NOTES

Big Order for Cloth.

The bureau of supplies and accounts of the Navy Department has contracted for 1,744,000 yards of woolen uniform cloth. Of this total about 964,000 yards is 11-ounce cloth, 406,000 yards 13-ounce, and 380,000 yards 30-ounce cloth.

All But 1000.

A thousand more for the Marine Corps is the slogan of the "soldiers of the sea." Only about 1,000 more recruits are needed to bring the Corps up to its full authorized enlisted strength of 30,000. The Corps has more than doubled in the number of officers and men since the war began. On April 6 there were in the Corps 426 commissioned officers, 40 warrant officers, and 3,266 enlisted men.

Navy Men Commended.

The Secretary of the Navy has commended Leo Nelson Hinchliffe, pharmacist's mate, third class, United States Navy, for acts of gallantry in rescuing several persons from drowning when a street car of the Niagara Gorge Route overturned on July 1, 1917. Hinchliffe displayed great presence of mind and courage and attempted the rescue with risk of losing his own life in the deep waters of the Niagara River, where the accident occurred and where many persons lost their lives.

New Rig for the Band.

According to the new regulations issued this week by the navy department, the musicians of the navy band will hereafter be seen in white sailors' uniforms with the exception of bandmasters who will still continue to wear white petty officers' rig.

Coming Along Good.

Up to date the owners of 339 motor and sail boats have been granted a license in the Portsmouth section of the First Naval District.

Ready for Service.

The mess hall and cook room is now complete at the navy yard training camp and will be turned over for the feeding of the many recruits on Monday.

TRAINS SHOULD STOP AT NEWINGTON PLANT

Several men from Dover are now employed at the new shipbuilding plant at Newington. This morning sixteen passengers were on the early train from Dover for the plant. They were obliged to walk from the Newington station to the proposed shipyard. The railroad should arrange to stop the morning and night trains at this location for the accommodation of the workmen.

LOCAL DASHES

Don't forget to boost Portsmouth. Secret agents are doing a bit of work locally.

There is much of news that the Herald is unable to print.

A new song, "How to Escape the Draft," will prove popular.

Evidence is being secured against new methods of selling liquor.

Portsmouth men are anxiously awaiting their examination.

If you believe in Portsmouth join the boosters. Don't be a grouch.

Portsmouth needs some more live, pushing, unselfish, business men.

Men in the postal service will not be exempt, according to orders from Washington.

SOME CHANGES SINCE THEN.

Forty years ago the conductors on the Eastern railroad, now eastern route of the Boston & Maine, were paid from $750 to $1200 per year, and brakemen from $35 to $40 per month. Fifteen conductors on the Boston & Maine then received less than $600 per year. The pay of the remaining conductors ranged from that figure to $900, with one exception.

PREDICTIONS FOR WEEK OF AUGUST 6

Washington, August 4.—The weather bureau today issued the following prediction for the North Atlantic states for next week: Generally fair with local showers on Monday and Tuesday.

ELIOT

Eliot, Aug. 4.—There will be a singing demonstration by Miss Linzel Littlefield of Portland, at the Eliot Grange Hall, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ladies of the town are cordially invited to attend. Admission free.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Drake and family are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Downing of Portland have been visitors in town.

Rev. D. T. Conyon is having a vacation during the month of August, so there will be no services at the Congregational church during that time.

The ladies of the Congregational society are planning a fair to be given the latter part of August.

By special request the ladies' flag drill will be repeated at the Grange hall next Wednesday night. Music will be furnished by the Girls' Eliot Orchestra.

Miss Barbara Bartlett is the guest of Josephine Trafton of Kittery for a few days.

Friends of Mr. Charles Paul are sorry to know he is suffering from the effects of a shock caused by the intense hot weather, and is under the care of a physician. Mr. Paul is one of Eliot's oldest citizens, being about 80 years of age.

KEEPING YOUR STOMACH HEALTHY

If people will eat good, wholesome food, simply and thoroughly prepared, will eat because they require food and not because it tastes good, will eat at regular times and take plenty of exercise—they will cease to be conscious that they have a digestive tract, and digestive troubles will decrease ninety per cent.

Foods and drinks should never be taken freezing cold or scalding hot, in fact, extremes of all kinds are the result of the customs and conveniences of the times we live in, and not of natural selection. However embarrassing it may be, the fact remains that our digestive canals still hold pretty closely to the customs of their prehistoric cave dwelling ancestors, and refuse to be rushed into these twentieth century environments without a protest; consequently we hear more and more of digestive disorders and so-called liver troubles.

The complaints that are constantly being laid at the doors of our misapprehending and unoffending livers, are enough to make any organ, but a most generous and forgiving one, really get out of order and show what it could do.—From "What's Wrong With Your Stomach," by Estlin D. Holland, M.D., in August Physician Culture.

JAPAN WILL BUILD TEN STEAMERS

(By Associated Press)

Tokio, August 4.—Contracts have been placed with the Osaka Iron works, a newly formed company, and other shipbuilding yards in Japan by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha for ten steamers aggregating 35,000 tons. They are approximately valued at $2,100,000 and are to be all finished by 1918.

CALLS U. S. TROOPS

"UNTRAINED LOOTS"

Washington, Aug. 4.—"Untrained loots" to be scattered like chaff, is a characterization given by a German naval officer to American troops being sent to France, according to information which has reached the State Department.

The department received the news in a cablegram which said that a "certain German naval officer," had stated that the military party in Germany treats America's entrance into the war very lightly, because "America will send over a crowd of untrained loots in wooden vessels that we can sink with hand grenades, and even if the United States should send 5,000,000 men, they will be scattered like chaff, for lack of training."

Grand Jury Report Criticizes Detectives and the Commissioner.

New York, Aug. 4.—Lack of co-operation between the uniformed police and the detective bureau of New York city was found by the grand jury which investigated charges of police negligence in the case of Ruth Cruger, the high school girl, whose body was found in the shop of Alfredo Cocchi.

In a presentment handed up yesterday, the grand jury stated also that "there seems to be an inadequate supervision of detective work on the part of the commissioner in charge thereof."

The grand jury was discharged after it had returned an indictment charging neglect of duty against Lt. Alonzo Cooper, who was acting captain of the 4th branch detective bureau which conducted the search for the Cruger girl. Lt. Cooper pleaded not guilty and was held for trial for $1000 bail.

Continuation of the inquiry by another grand jury was recommended.

Lack of interest in the discovery of crime by the 4th branch bureau was shown in the evidence, the grand jury reported, and it added that "there has been a senseless and cruel rule on the part of the police department to do nothing in regard to a missing person for 24 hours. The grand jury is of the opinion that missing persons should receive at least the same attention as missing automobiles."

MINISTER IN CLASH WITH PHOTOGRAPHERS

(By Associated Press)

Mexico City, August 3.—A clash between Heinrich von Eckhardt, the German minister to Mexico and Mexican newspaper photographers in which Eckhardt came to blows with the newspaper men, followed the recent session of the Mexican National Congress held here. Herr von Eckhardt is the man who was directed by Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, then German foreign minister, to make arrangements to bring Japan with Mexico into the war with the United States. He with other members of the diplomatic corps and President Carranza attended the opening session of congress.

Newspaper photographers sent to snap the president set up their cameras in the aisle close to the German minister who was seated at the end of the row of seats to keep him as far distant as possible from the representatives of the Entente allies who occupied the same row. Von Eckhardt protested, in what the photographers described as a rough and caustic manner that he did not intend to be annoyed by photographers, but the camera men paid little attention and photographed President Carranza and the diplomatic corps from the most available spot which was directly behind von Eckhardt.

When the flashlight charge exploded, say the photographers, von Eckhardt remonstrated not only with words but with blows.

TO DEVELOP INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION

(By Associated Press)

The Hague, Netherlands, August 4.—The Interparliamentary Union is making no attempt during the war to bring together the different belligerent groups associated with the union, but is encouraging each of them to undertake parallel action in their respective countries in favor of the international union so often set forth by President Wilson," declared Doctor Christian L. Lange, general secretary of the union, in an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press.

Doctor Lange who is a Norwegian and has his headquarters at Christiania has just made the third round of the different European groups that he has undertaken since the beginning of the war, and after conferences at Petrograd, Berlin, Vienna, and Bern, has conferred with the Netherlands group of the Interparliamentary Union of the Hague.

"You may imagine the difficulties connected with the maintenance of the union and its work in these times," he remarked, "when I mention that the executive committee is composed of an Englishman, a Belgian, a Dutchman, an Austrian and a German. The close participation of members of the various groups in the political life of their respective countries puts an attempt at any plenary gatherings or direct co-operation out of the question. I shall the three Scandinavian groups continue to meet periodically."

"Our main concern for the present is the maintenance of the union in such a way that when peace comes we may be ready at once to reestablish it and co-operate in the reconstruction of international life and the development of international organization. Our American group is strong and energetic, and is carrying on good work under the leadership of James L. Maydene, a member of congress from Texas.

"I am afraid we are at least in for another winter campaign," said Lange in response to a question regarding his view of the outlook and the impressions gleaned from his conferences in the various belligerent countries. Each side at present thinks greater advantages may be gained by continued military action than by the curious fact that in one respect the immediate conclusion of peace, it is a position has been exactly reversed. In the beginning of the war Germany based all her hopes on a decision on land, while Great Britain looked mainly to her naval power. Now it is Britain and the allies who rely on their land forces, while people in the central states firmly believe that they can force a decision at sea by means of the U-boats."

The position of his own country, Lange, Doctor Lange, described as exceedingly difficult. Despite its uncombatant position, he said, "food has risen 65 per cent in price, which exactly corresponds with the increase in the cost of living in Germany. The reason for this is that we are so largely dependent on foreign supplies; a third of Norway's food has to be imported. Her shipping losses have been exceedingly heavy, and her fleet is unable to show a great strength as compared with its dimensions at the outbreak of the war. Shipowners' losses are made good financially, but so far as the country and its economic life are concerned the money cannot make up for the sunken ships and the lost trade which they represent."

"Whereas, before the war, wealth was pretty evenly distributed there, the war has created a new moneyed class, but over against this small group of comparatively rich people, there is the great mass of the nation, weighted down by the burdens of the war has imposed. Norway has come off better than most, if not all other European neutrals in the matter of mobilization expenses, for her geographical position secures to her much greater safety. Nevertheless, those expenses are exceedingly heavy."

"The chances of Norway getting into complication with either of the belligerent parties at present appear very slight," added Doctor Lange. "The clouds of last year's acute crisis have passed over."

CENSORSHIP IMPOSED ON NEWSPAPER

(By Associated Press)

The Hague, August 4.—It is not quite clear why the German censor banned beginning July 25 political articles in "The Frankfurter Zeitung." The embargo, which is understood to have been already raised, was imposed, as the Reichstag von Payer explained on account of a series of articles by Professor Max Weber of Heidelberg. "The Frankfurter's" articles are unsigned but the following are some recent extracts to which the censor conceivably took exception. In one an editorial writer said:

"Russia wants peace without annexation or indemnities. Germany is willing to conclude peace on that basis with Russia. Such a peace automatically would result in a general peace. Thus, the idea of a separate peace, if examined more closely vanishes more and more under necessity which must make it a part of, or an introductory to a general peace."

Another article was devoted to the German socialists' peace memorial including these assertions:

"Desire for peace stronger here, less strong elsewhere—is unmistakable. It can only be satisfied by peace becoming an accomplished fact, not by non-binding statements of representatives of a single state, however deep they may be, of the community, but who has the courage after three years of undecided warfare, to say that any step is not welcome that is calculated to destroy prejudices, smooth over difficulties and strengthen a readiness to wards peace in all war camps? During this trying wartime, we have become inwardly conscious of the fact that it cannot be by power or sword alone, on whose might we may base our future."

STORM PLAYS QUEER TRICKS

Lightning Rips Shingles Off Church Spire—Car Service Suspended.

Hampton Beach, Aug. 4.—Thursday's heavy electric storms, raised havoc about Hampton and Hampton Beach. Several houses and barns were struck by lightning, street car service was suspended, roads and gardens inundated and telephone service to points north of this resort was badly crippled. Numerous incidents of less importance worked considerable damage during the three heavy storms. Tenity were blown down on campers, flagpoles torn off roofs and shade trees despoiled of numerous branches.

Perhaps the queerest incident was the effect of a bolt of lightning on the spire of St. Patrick's church, which is said to be the most beautiful church edifice on the Atlantic coast, north of the famous St. Augustine in Florida. Surmounting the tall spire is a cross of copper, one of the best known conductors of electricity. The cross remained intact and unharmed, but the spire was stripped of its shingles, leaving the framework exposed on two sides.

Watching for submarine chasers or destroyers is now a popular pastime at the beach. On Sundays the watchers are sure to be rewarded with occasional glimpses of these long, lean, greyhounds of the sea, who appear off Bear's Head near the Isles of Shoals, and in an incredible short space of time have disappeared in the mists off Cape Ann. People who have sighted the chasers through strong field and marine glasses say that the terrific speed they attain keeps their decks awash entirely and that in comparison other boats seem to be anchored.

Frank Aldrich, of Manchester, is passing the summer at this resort.

Henry Tucker of Concord is visiting relatives at Hampton Beach.

The hot wave of the past week has filled the cottages and hotel to overflowing and the bath house business has been better than rushing.

The Zara-Cameron trio of manipulators and jugglers are providing an excellent open-air entertainment on the stage in front of the Casino and they will be followed next week by Paul Levan and Bobs in a comedy acrobatic offering which was the big hit of the last winter-garden show.

Miss Marlon Whitecomb of Berlin has been visiting relatives at the beach for the past week.

Lona Lavigne of Blidford, Me., is visiting Mrs. George W. Reynolds at the "Rockland" cottage on the North Shore.

EXETER

Exeter, August 4.—Although no serious damage was done in the thunder shower of Thursday night, lightning struck in several places. A telegraph wire was struck early in the evening and the service held up for a time. Another bolt struck a large tree near the Merrill residence on Main street, splitting it in the middle. The rainfall was light in most sections but many gardens were benefited by the fall, here, which was heavy for a short time.

The members of the Moses N. Collins post of the G. A. R. will hold a patriotic sale on the steps of the town hall building next Tuesday evening. An elaborate program has been arranged, consisting of music by the Exeter Cornet band.

The chairmen of the various committees are: Decorations, Mrs. Grace L. Hayes; ice cream, Mrs. Ida Jenkins; lemonade, Miss Nellie L. Field; mystery packages, Mrs. Annie W. Farnsworth; home cooking, Mrs. Viola Covey; aprons and bags, Mrs. Carrie Field; fortunes, Miss Lillie Shaw; histories and quill, Mrs. Lizzie Filkins; popcorn, Mrs. Winifred Hartz.

Olin V. Work of Abol, Mass., is spending a week's vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Work of High street.

Percy Gardner who for the past 15 years has served as secretary of the Cemetery association, has resigned and his place has been filled by Registrar of Probate Robert Scott.

Albert S. Wetherell, Jr., has bought of Charles W. Milin a tract of land near the Osgood bungalow on which he will build a bungalow.

Rev. Charles W. Towle of Haverhill, Mass., will preach at the Baptist church on Sunday; Rev. Mr. Swanford on August 12, and Rev. A. Haley, D. Woodsum, a former pastor on August 19. On August 26 the church will be closed.

Prof. and Mrs. James A. Tuffs are making a visit of a week or more at his old homestead at Alstead.

Charles E. Quinn of Boston is visiting with his wife at her former home here.

Exeter's total amount contributed to the fund for the Company 3, Coast Artillery, which is now in camp at Fort Stark, Newcastle, amounts to $122.33 and efforts will be made to make it an even $1,000. Contributions should be sent to A. E. McReed, treasurer.

William H. Seaward is this week enjoying a vacation which he is spending in the vicinity of the White Mountains.

Harry V. Lawrence of Boston, who has been spending a two weeks' va-

The funeral services of George W. Robinson were held yesterday afternoon, there being prayer at the home and services in the cemetery chapel, both conducted by Rev. John D. Leach, pastor of the Methodist church. A. G. Fleming was the undertaker.

FIRST WOMAN DIPLOMATIST TO SIT AT TABLE

(By Associated Press)

London, August 4.—The first woman diplomatist to sit at a table of diplomatic negotiations according to the representatives at the Anglo-German Conference at the Hague recently to deal with questions on prisoners of war.

Mrs. Livingstone is an American married to a British officer and has been a member and secretary of the government committee on the treatment by the enemy of British prisoners since it was formed two years ago.

In the early days of the war Mrs. Livingstone used to do all the interviewing of the sick and wounded prisoners who were returned periodically and although this work is now done largely by a large staff of volunteers she still makes it a point of personally interviewing all escaped prisoners of war.

Mrs. Livingstone talking about her visit to the Hague said:

"People did seem surprised to find a woman among the British representatives. I am sure I don't know why because there is really nothing that women are not doing in England today. Is there? I had no means of telling what the German representatives thought, because, of course, we didn't talk to each other, not socially. I mean, indeed it would be quite impossible to give you an adequate idea of the extreme formality of the proceedings."

"I was there merely to assist Sir Robert Young, our chairman with information which as secretary of a committee I naturally have at hand. It was real hard work all the time and both parties were concerned solely with the welfare of the prisoners. The questions concerning them were the only ones discussed, and I think the agreements concluded will be found to be very satisfactory."

PRACTICAL DEVOTION TO JAPAN'S GOOD

(By Associated Press)

Tokio, August 4.—Baron Etsch Shibusawa, Japan's foremost financier and business man, now retired, is showing his practical devotion to the welfare of Japan by delivering a series of talks on ethics, especially on commercial morality, before the Tokyo commercial schools. He said:

"From my business experience of 60 years, I have learned that morality and economics can be harmonized. I feel it my duty to facilitate this principle in the minds of young commercial students."

MILITARY PLAN IN OPERATION AT R. R. DEPOT

(By Associated Press)

London August 3.—Soldiers on leave from the front in the early days of the war had the greatest difficulty in finding their way about London and across it to main line centres leading to their provincial homes, but this has all been altered and what was once chaos at Victoria station, now looks like any part of the military machine.

This has been made possible by the help of the volunteers of the national guard and by members of the Women's Reserve Ambulance Company who take charge of the men on arrival, change their French money into English, grant them loans, and personally conduct them to the various stations they may require to travel from.

NOT TO JOIN ARMY, THANKS JUST SAME.

Bangor, Me., Aug. 2.—The examining board of this district received a letter this morning from a man who had been notified to appear. He wrote: "Thanking you for your favor asking me to report for examination, I wish to say that after careful consideration I have decided not to enter the national army at this time." From the Boston Globe of Aug. 3.

LOCAL BOARD ISSUES OFFICIAL CALL FOR ARMY EXAMINATIONS

Fifty Men Will be Examined on Each of the Three Days, August 8, 9, and 10 Until the Necessary 75 Have Been Selected For Service in the New Na- tional Army

The local selection board, under orders of the Provost Marshal General, of the United States, has posted the official list of registrants for examination and selection for the new national army, as directed by an act of Congress. Notices were mailed by the board to each of the men called to appear before the board on one of the three days, but failure to receive notice does not exempt the man called, and the war department and the department of justice has ruled that the burden of responsibility rests with the individual.

At the request of the Provost Marshal General's office the newspapers publish the official list as a further means of notifying the men called to appear for examination.

The official notices of the examination as ordered by the local board and issued for publication in The Herald, follows:

BIG BUSINESS HAS CONTROL OF GERMAN PRESS

(By Associated Press.)
Copenhagen, August 3.—Attention is now being directed by German Liberal Socialist newspapers to efforts of big business and industry to gain a commanding position over the German press and foreign news field. Before the war Krupp and associated concerns in heavy manufacturing had furnished capital for an enterprise designed to assist German business abroad particularly in South America and the Orient, by a news service and during the war big businesses have extensively financed new services designed to manipulate neutral opinion by means of press dispatches.

One of these, the wireless concern known as "Transocean" headed by a former director of the Press Bureau formed the ambitious project of establishing itself through control of wireless and a monopoly of official and semi-official news during the war in such a position in the American field, that after the war it would be able to continue to furnish American newspapers direct from its branch of German news delivered from New York as well as in South America and Asia.

The American declaration of war and rupture of wireless communication blocked these plans for a time, but the company a few weeks ago held a meeting and doubled its capital stock money coming from the old sources.

Now, the Foreign Advertisement Company, a concern founded shortly before the war, to act as distributing center for advertising in both foreign and domestic newspapers of a number of great business and industrial concerns has increased its capital from 200,000 to 1,000,000 marks and the Munich Post is able to publish the names of its stockholders and those of the holding company controlling it. 44 stockholders in the holding company include a whole galaxy of the heavy industrial world such as Krupp, Stumm, the Hugo Stinnes Steel works association, the Soehm and Mathelm mining syndicates and the Augsburg machine factory, with Director Hugenburg of Krupp holding voting control.

The Advertisement company will be able to dispose of the advertising of a hundred and fifty of the largest German concerns. It is pointed out in the press and admitted by the founders that an institution with such an amount of advertising to distribute may hope to influence editorial views of newspapers.

ASKS KAISER TO PAY FOR FISH AND EGGS

Base American Plotlines in British Waters, August 4.—There is at least one person in this port who is praying for the end of the war. He is a poor fisherman who has a bill to present to the German Emperor for a basketful of fish and eggs for which he says a German submarine forgot to pay.

One peaceful afternoon in the early days of the war alone in his boat with rifle shot of the harbor a submarine emerged alongside. Before the man had time to fall overboard from fright an officer stuck his head out of the conning tower and in perfect English asked if he could have some fish.

"Sure," said the excited fisherman as he turned over a basketful.

"Can you get us some eggs?" asked the German.

"Sure," said the man who promptly pulled for shore, disappeared into his hut for an instant and reappeared with several dozen eggs which he brought out to the hungry submarine crew now lined up on the deck of the waiting submersible.

Then instead of preferring payment the crew said thanks in their native tongue, laughingly announced that they were Germans and made off.

"I thought they were English until then," said the fisherman whose story is the pet yarn of the place.

"HIS LITTLE WIDOWS"

A Real Musical Comedy Direct from the Astor Theatre, New York, Opens the Season at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, Next Tuesday Night, Aug. 7.

The season at the Shubert theatre will open next Tuesday night, August 7th, when Messrs. C. H. Anderson and Lawrence Weber will present their very notable success, "His Little Widows" direct from its long and successful run at the Astor Theatre. This musical comedy by Hilda Johnson Young (book and lyrics) William Schrader (music) is promised as possessing just the right elements for hot summer amusement, with its witty plot, pretty girls happy cast and snappy music. The important cast includes Tempest and Sunshine, Mark Smith, Robert Emmett Keane, Edith Day, Edith Day, Mary Ambrose, Charles Prince, Dan E. Day, Carl Gordon, Walter Coupe, Sol Solomon, John Nichols and the original Astor Theatre beauty chorus. The advance sale of seats indicated an extraordinary many interest in this engagement. Among the famous songs which will be heard from the voices of their originators are: "When you Dance the Waltz with me," "Oh, You Girls," "Salute of the Little Day," "My Love is a Secret," "Johnny Come Follow Me," "This is the Best We Have Ever Struck," "I Need Someone's Love," "What Are You Going to Do When the Animals are Gone?" "A Wife for Each Day of the Week," "That Creepy Weeping Feeling," "I Want Them All to Leave Me Alone," "Cabaret Land," "That's the Kind of a Wife to be," "Pet's Escape." Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon as usual.

WOULD ESTABLISH UNIVERSITY IN THIS COUNTRY

(By Associated Press.)
Amsterdam, August 3.—Establishment of the German university in the United States in order to increase the influence of German Americans in that country is suggested by Rudolf Bucken, formerly a university exchange professor. Discussing in the Hamburger Nachrichten what he called small influence exerted by the German-Americans, Professor Bucken attributed this to the lack of higher German educational institutions in America and of a pro-German press in England. With these defects, he said, would be remedied.

CITY GETS $5,000 BY COMPROMISE IN FIELD WILL

Will Be Used as High School Fund for Boys and Girls.

The city today received a check for $5,000 as a final settlement in the Anne Fields will in which she left the sum of $6000 to Portsmouth to be used as a fund for the boys and girls' high school. The fact that no boys and girls' high school existed at the time led to a litigation in the Essex county probate court at Salem, Mass. The city finally made a compromise on $5,000 and that amount was turned over to the city solicitor, S. W. Emery, in a check today.

The fund is the only one of its kind now in the possession of the city and will be used for worthy boys and girls who wish to get a high school education.

OBITUARY

Clara Isabel Leckey

Mrs. Clara Isabel Leckey, wife of Thomas C. Leckey, died at the Portsmouth hospital shortly before midnight Friday. Mrs. Leckey had been in poor health for some time, but since her return home from the hospital following a surgical operation, was apparently much improved. Early Friday evening she had a severe hemorrhage and was taken to the hospital. She was the eldest daughter of the late George E. and Mary E. (Thomas) Marden and was born July 6, 1853. Her marriage to Mr. Leckey took place on April 12, 1893, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Alfred Gooding. She was an active member of Fannie A. Gardner Rebekah lodge, holding the position of financial secretary. Besides her husband she is survived by two sisters, Ida E. Marden of this city and Miss Emma L. Marden of Springvale and a niece Miss Alice G. Marden and a nephew Fred L. Marden. Mrs. Leckey was a woman of many noble qualities, and her death will cause sorrow to a large circle of acquaintances who will miss her cheery presence.

MISS JOY YOUNG WILL RELATE HER EXPERIENCE

Miss Joy Young of Washington, national organizer of the National Woman's party is in Portsmouth today. Miss Young will speak on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry E. Hovey on State street of her experiences as a picket in front of the White House in January and on July 4, the day on which she was arrested and sentenced to three days in the district jail on a technical charge of blocking traffic.

Miss Young defended the pickets vigorously. "We know," she said, "that suffrage would be entirely forgotten by a war session of congress, and women are urged to help the country prosecute this war and are not given proper political power to do it. We are to conserve food by sacrifices in our homes when the real problem lies in the improper method of distribution and manipulation of prices by the unscrupulous dealers. If we had a vote we might cope with such a situation, but voteless, we are helpless. We urge that congress put through the bill immediately so that we can give all the strength we have to the government in this crisis. We are picketing daily in front of the White House to make sure that suffrage will not be forgotten."

In speaking of Senator Hollis' statement that the woman suffrage committee of the senate changed its mind about reporting the bill because of the pickets, Miss Young said that the committee is waiting word from the President when to report the bill.

"Even Senator Hollis," she said, "will do it when the President asks it, and we have every expectation that the President will ask it this session of congress."

Miss Young will dine tonight with Mrs. George Ribble, who is a strong supporter of the woman's party. Mrs. Ribble will take a leading part in the conference of the party which is to be called at Concord the latter part of August.

All those interested are invited to attend the meeting on Monday.

Joseph P. Lamb on Saturday reached another milestone in life's journey.

SOLDIER BOYS REMEMBER THE FOLKS AT HOME

During the past few days the secretaries of the Army Y. M. C. A. at the local forts have been kept busy with the sale of money orders and stamps, and the receiving of deposits for a Portsmouth bank. On pay day the men of Forts Constitution and Foster sent over $300 away, most of it going to the folks at home. Although the newly arrived New Hampshire companies were not paid off, it is evident that they too remember the fathers and mothers at home, for over 200 letters a day are mailed from the Y. M. C. A. tent and many of these are destined for the towns in this state from whence the companies come.

On Wednesday evening Secretary Foregrave gave a storepion lecture on the Yosemite Valley and the Grand Canyon, together with a few slides on the hymn, "America." About 150 men attended the lecture and showed great interest in it. The same lecture was given Tuesday night at Fort Stark for the Portsmouth and Exeter companies.

Since the installation of a water-cooler in the tent many of the men have dropped in for a little refreshment during the heat of the day. This has been much appreciated in the hot weather, and has helped the secretaries in fulfilling their desire that the Y. M. C. A. tent should be the pleasantest place at the fort. The breeze which has been missing in most places has blown through the tent, a great deal of the time, and with the side walls let down, there has been a good circulation of air at all times.

Efforts are now being made to secure volunteer teachers for mathematics and other common or high school subjects and it is hoped that the classes in algebra will be started soon, as well as one in English for men who have had little education. Moving pictures will be given Saturday night as usual, with six reels on the program.

Sunday morning at 8, Secretary Foregrave will conduct a Bible class at Fort Stark and at 9 at Fort Constitution.

FINE EXHIBIT IS EXPECTED

What should be a most pleasing feature of the Portsmouth Fair is the agricultural exhibit to be given by the boy and girl gardeners of this and surrounding towns.

While much interest was shown last year, yet owing to the country-wide manifest in agricultural pursuits, it is expected that this season many more entries will be made and that many more varieties of products will be exhibited.

CHANGES AMONG CATHOLIC CLERGY IN THIS DIOCESE

Among the changes recently made in the diocese of Manchester by Bishop Guertin was that of Rev. James H. Queenan, who goes from Concord to Hillsborough where he has been appointed pastor.

The other is the transfer of Rev. F. G. Deshaies of St. Charles church, Dover, who will fill the vacancy at Nashua, caused by the promotion of Rev. J. J. Richard, formerly pastor of St. Charles church at Dover, to the

BENEFIT OF PORTSMOUTH HOSPITAL

The annual hospital day for the benefit of the Portsmouth Hospital will be on Saturday, Aug. 11, and the directors of the hospital appeal to every man, woman and child in Portsmouth and its many neighboring towns, to make the day a great success.

Never in the history of this country have the people had so many calls on their strength, time and money, as during the past few months, and never have the people responded so generously in lavish gifts of all three, but while our hearts are writhing with sympathy and sorrow for the anguish caused by this fearful war, we must not forget the sick and suffering at our very doors.

We must never let it be possible that our own citizens or summer visitors be turned away from the Portsmouth Hospital in some dire hour of need, because we have given so much abroad, our beds, our operating room, our X-ray apparatus, and all the other necessities for the sick.

Especially is this true of the Portsmouth Hospital, for, particularly at this time, must it be kept up in the most efficient manner, not only for our own people, but for those shiploads of soldiers and sailors, whom, alas, all too soon, will come home to us, maimed and wounded, and the Portsmouth Hospital must be ready and willing to do its share for their comfort and restoration.

Especially do the directors appeal to the generous summer visitor, for whom the Hospital is a safe and ready haven in case of sudden accident or sickness, and those who refuse to help because they have no interest in this particular hospital may be the very first to be rushed to its doors after some awful accident caused by automobile, boat, bathing or fire.

"Hospital Day" usually results in about $1500, and this is a great help towards the current expenses of the year, but this year, because people have given so much already to the Red Cross, the French wounded, the Belgium Relief and many other charities, we must double our efforts and triple our generosity to help our Portsmouth Hospital to continue in the future, the splendid work it has done in the past.

The ultimate economy of paying the price of a good shoe has never been questioned. Today good shoes cost more than formerly, but it is equally sure that they were never more economical. The test of economy is getting the full measure of service out of a shoe. A good shoe can be worn out and continue to look well in the process. Or, shoes can be counted on to give that sort of service.
